

Dr. Agnes Furst

Dr. Agnes Furst is a self-motivated professional with 20+ years of experience as an organizational consultant, trainer, and facilitator. Dr. Furst has a track record of producing extraordinary results internationally for multinational corporations with a special background in medicine, healthcare and pharmaceutical industry. Throughout her career as a corporate consultant, she's trained, coached and supported hundreds of managers in various industries, from newly appointed first line managers to seasoned top level executives. She is a seasoned professional that is highly adaptable no matter what topic she teaches always meeting her participants' needs, level of experience and readiness. Her classes are highly interactive, with lots of discussions making sure everyone has a voice and gets heard. She has a hands-on, practical approach to leadership and supervisory skills; this makes it possible to simplify even the most complex topics and make them easily understandable for all participants.

Education, Professional Training, Affiliations:

- M.D., Semmelweis University of Medicine, Budapest, Hungary
- Basic & Advanced Facilitation Skills Courses from SmithKline Beecham & University of Cambridge
- Accredited trainer for Professional Selling Skills and Strategies for Successful Presentations from Achieve Global
- Certified Implications Wheel facilitator (<https://www.implicationswheel.com/>) 2012 & 2013
- Accredited facilitator of Decision Base®, Tango®, Livon®, Apples & Oranges® business simulations from CELEMI™

If your goal is to leave this workshop with some actionable practical knowledge that you can immediately implement in your line of work, then this workshop is for you!